World Bank (TEQIP III) Assisted

Two Days National Conference
On

“Recent trends in Chemical Engineering & Environment Protection”

March 29-30,2019

Organized By:

Department Of Chemical Engineering
Bundelkhand Institute of Engineering & Technology

Jhansi-284128 (U.P.) INDIA

(An autonomous institution)

Purpose of the Conference

Over the past few decades the world is witnessing the impact of technological advancement in the field of Chemical Engineering. To take full advantage of such development, it is necessary to bring together science & technology professionals, researchers, academicians, industry people and valued users on a common platform. It is a timely endeavor indeed because Chemical Engineering is breaking news in the world of science and Technology.

The conference will provide opportunities to understand technical challenges and best practices for environmental protection strategies in Indian context along with the fundamentals of chemical engineering.

About the Institute

Bundelkhand Institute of Engineering & Technology (BIET), Jhansi was founded in year 1986. It is a prestigious Institute with a reputation for excellence at both undergraduate & postgraduate level, fostering the spirit of nation integration among the Institute, close interaction with industry and a strong emphasis on research both basic and applied.

About the Chemical Engineering Department

The chemical engineering department was established in 1996 & M.Tech (Energy Science & Technology) in 2014.

Its courses include all important aspects of chemical engineering with more emphasis on analysis and implementation of various types of technologies and development. Department has fully equipped laboratories to facilitate students to improve their practical knowledge in different subjects. We try to insist value through courses, activities, events and environment created in the department

Conference Content

Following areas related to chemical engineering & allied technologies will be covered during the national conference:

- Air pollution control and equipment
- Social aspect of Sustainable Development, Ecosystem Restoration
- Environmental Science and Technology, Solid waste Management, Sustainable Development and Education
- Water pollution and treatment, Recent development in Waste water treatment methods
- Renewable sources of energy, Advanced Energy Technologies, Renewable energy technologies,
- Chemistry and Chemical Engineering Fundamentals

Submission

Abstract should be submitted by one of the authors in standard format either in (.pdf)/Word(.doc/*.docx).

chd@bietjhs.ac.in

Files in specified format shall be considered for review.
